BIG CHEMICAL PLANT.

Writeup of Works Located at Nordmont.

TOWANDA MAN IS MANAGER.

R. Kessler, Jr., of This Place Holds That Responsible Position—Magnitude of the Plant—What Its Principal Products Are.

The Laporte News Item in a recent issue contains a writeup of the Nordmont Chemical company's plant at Nordmont. The article is of general interest in Towanda and also at Sayre as R. Kessler, Jr., of Towanda is the general manager of the company and he is also financially interested in the Reeser, Kessler, Wieland Co. department store at Sayre, a business enterprise that has started with a very flattering encouragement from the public. The article in the News Item is as follows:

A prominent industry of Sullivan county is the Nordmont Chemical company's acid plant located one-fourth mile above Nordmont, occupying a site of several acres along the banks of the Muncy creek and stands as a sentinel to the long winding valley reaching to the headwaters of the stream that supplies it with an abundance of water. This enterprise was started in the spring of 1899, by the Dutton-Peck Chemical company, who were at that time operating a similar plant at Emmonds, erected at that place in 1898. This enterprising firm operated the two plants until last year, when they sold their interest to other parties. The Emmons plant is now operated by the Fishing Creek Mfg Co. An interest in the Nordmont plant was purchased by business men in Scranton and Wilkesbarre, forming a company known as the Nordmont Chemical Company. This company in their purchase of the acid works at Nordmont, included the stave factory at Laporte and vast tracts of timber land extending to the vicinity of Ricketts and estimated to comprise over 7000 acres.

After the purchase was made the acid works closed for alterations and enlargement to meet the increasing demands of the trade. A new plant was erected by the side of the old one in which was installed modern equipment and labor-saving devises which shows a marked contrast with the old part of the present plant.

When coming in view of the plant one is first attracted by six large smoke stacks towering high in the air and by the busy appearance of workmen hurrying from place to place. On entering one is further impressed with the fact that it is an industry which ranks with the most prominent in the manufacturing world. It has a floor space of over 13000 square feet. A boiler capacity of 300 horse power is required at the new plant. The old and new plants are worked independently of each other, excepting the distill room where the refining of raw liquor is done. There are twelve pairs of retorts in the old part, each holding 1½ cords which are filled by hand. In the new part huge ovens take the place of retorts. Four of these ovens, each holding six cords, are quickly filled by three iron cage like cars each containing two cords of 52 inch wood which are loaded in the yard and run into the ovens where the distillation takes place. Sixteen cords of wood for the old part and twenty-four cords for the new part is the daily consumption when working at full capacity. Each month 700 bushels of lime is used in the manufacture of acetate of lime. Four hundred tons of coal is consumed monthly for heating the ovens and retorts and generating steam. From the 40 cords of wood consumed daily, over 30 cars of charcoal are shipped monthly.

How the Distilling is Done.

As soon as the wood cars have been run into the ovens, two massive iron doors are wedged securely shut making the ovens air tight. In this manner the wood is given a baking process. At the end of each oven is a large iron tank into which the smoke from the wood passes. Many copper pipes are connected to these tanks which are called condensers. In these condensers a gas is generated which is conveyed by pipes to the boiler furnace where it serves as fuel. Through another pipe leading from each of the condensers pours a steady stream of liquor which is called pyrolignous acid and contains the elements that make wood alcohol and acetic acid, the latter being converted into acetate of lime through a process of an introduction of lime by distillation. From this product all the different salts of acetate are made, such as soda acetate, lead acetate, etc. Acetate of lime is found to be the most expenditious way of handling acetic acid and for that reason the lime is introduced as an absorbant. Acetate of lime is also used as one of the principal ingredients in the manufacture of smokeless powder. It is used extensively in forming component parts of chloroform, white lead, celluloid and various other similar articles. The market for this product is principally abroad.

The wood alcohol finds its market mostly in America, only a small portion being exported. It is used as a better substitute for grain alcohol where a more powerful solvent is needed. It is deadly poison and its use is confined entirely to chemical purposes. In distilling the raw liquor, or pyrolignous acid, wood tar is obtained. After the acid, has been extracted from the wood, charcoal of the best grade remains and is found to be a most profitable by-product for the market, it being used in large quantities by iron foundries for use in melting furnaces. Charcoal is also used extensively for making gun powder, it forming the body and serves as an aosorbant of the explosive substances.

It is estimated that this factory has a timber supply to keep it in operation for thirty years. A force of 20 men are employed at the works and about sixty workmen are engaged in cutting and hauling the wood.

W. E. Smith, a graduate in chemistry, is foreman of the works. The directing force and energy of this establishmnt is R. Kessler, Jr., general manager, who is constantly widening the sales territory to meet the requirements of increased production, and is one who takes pride in being pragressive and up-to-date in business affairs. In Mr. Kessler's office are seen two striking mottos hanging where the eye cannot escape them. One is, "Do it Now!" another reads, "He who takes his time, generally takes other people's too." His efficient bookkeeper, Mr. Ernest Botsford is the only office assistant he finds necessary to keep the business end of this successful enterprise in uniform motion.

SUBAGENT PILOT SKIPPED WITH MANAGER'S CLOTHES.

He Has Also Won a Warm Place in the Ladies' Hearts.

A Mr. Ross, who is an artist and for the past three weeks has been boarding at the Tidd House, is minus a considerable part of his new wearing apparel as the result of the actions of one of his subordinates. This subordinate gave his real name as Mr. Pilot and he steers from Milwaukee or, at least, that is what he told Mr. Ross.

Thursday the young men were working in the vicinity of Dushore, canvassing for orders to enlarge pictures. Mr. Pilot suggested to Mr. Ross that he should give him the check for his trunk and he would have it taken to the hotel. Mr. Ross did so and then went out in the outlying country to canvass. When he returned to Dushore he found that Pilot had broken open the trunk, taken a new Paddock overcoat, two suits of clothes and other apparel and had disappeared.

Mr. Ross wants his clothes. He is not so anxious for the further services of Mr. Pilot. But thus far Mr. Pilot has kept his craft out of dangerous waters. He is a short, black-eyed and blackheaded young man and has made a great impression on some of the young ladies of Towanda. He had made a boast that he could take a walk with a different and a new girl every night that he was in Towanda. Can Mr. Pilot remain away from such a pleasant place as Towanda?

Notes of the Court.

Claude Northrup of Sayre who pleaded guilty some time ago to larceny was Friday sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory by Judge Fanning. James Randolph, who pleaded guilty to gambling, was sentenced to pay the costs of the prosecution. Rush R. Campbell vs. Floy E. Campbell, subpoena in divorce awarded. James H. Wiltse has been granted the privilege of changing the location of his licensed place in Sayre borough.

License Transferred.

The license of the Daugherty House at Wysox has been transferred from John Marsh to W. H. Cogswell and Clinton C. Swingle. Mr. Cogswell is an experienced hotel man, having conducted a place at Burlington for a number of years. He has been a resident of Towanda the past year. Mr. Swingle is Mr. Cogswell's son-in-law and for the past five years has been connected with the Swingle dry goods store in this place.

Mr. Baker's Sister Dead.

John H. Baker of Thomas street, has received word of the death at Tama, Iowa, of his sister, Mrs. Robert Ramsdell, which occurred on Wednesday of last week. She had long been a sufferer with consumption. The deceased was a native of Scranton and was 57 years of age; her husband, four sons and two daughters survive.

Mr. Piollet Has Oration.

SOME BILLS ACTED ON

THE EHRHART BILL PASSED.

All Three Bradford County Representatives Voted for the Measure—Doing Away With Capital Punishment Proposed in Bill.

There were thirty-eight senators present when President Pro Tem Sproul called the senate to order at Harrisburg Thursday.

The first business taken up was the Philadelphia "ripper" bill, providing for the election by councils of all of the heads of departments instead of appointment by the mayor. The bill was taken up out of order, being far down on the calendar, and passed by 33 yeas to 5 nays, all the opponents being Democrats.

Mr. Godcharles called up the old Focht bridge bill, relating to the joint construction by county and state of bridges between counties, and it passed finally.

The following bills passed finally:

Providing for the punishment of persons expectorating or throwing rubbish in or upon any passenger car. The bill is aimed at people who defile railway cars and imposes a fine of from $5 to $20 on those who expectorate or throw fruit skins, nut shells or other rubbish on a passenger car floor.

Providing for the maintenance of turnpikes by cities and boroughs that condemned them for public use.

Securing the rights of persons, corporations, etc., in registered labels, trade-marks, etc.

Providing that in execution proceedings action shall take place before one magistrate and a jury of six.

Extending the statute of limitation to debts of estates of descendants.

Authorizing policemen to hold and exercise the office of constables.

Providing that married men or women in case of drunkenness of husband or wives may consent to the adoption of their children.

Empowering any taxpayer to appeal from judgment against a township, borough or school district and to become a party to the suit.

To regulate the employment in all kinds of industrial establishments of women and children, known as the child labor bill.

To provide for the protection and preservation of game.

Mr. Brown, Philadelphia, introduced a bill in the senate to abolish capital punishment and substitute, as penalty for capital crime, imprisonment for life. It was directly afterwards reported favorably from committee.

Action in the House.

The House passed finally the Ehrhart raid bill by a vote of 130 to 54. Fifteen Republicans who last week voted against the iniquitous measure turned around and voted for it. In the house the expectoration bill failed of a constitutional majority. Among the bills passed finally by the house are the following:

Authorizing the taking of carp with gigs and spears.

Settling title to real estate not having been in possession of a person for a period of twenty-one years against which proceedings have been brought to recover possession.

Permitting the use of certain maximum proportions of sodium benzorate and of harmless vegetable coloring matter in fruit syrups and fruit products for use in soda water, soft drinks and ice creams.

Appropriating $250 to J. H. Shoemaker and A. Mortin Cooper, of Philadelphia; $500 to Carroll Williams and $400 to A. K. Cassell, for services as attorneys and agents for the State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Joint resolution creating a commission to investigate the various charitable institutions in Pennsylvania.

The bill appropriating $20,000 for the erection of a statute to the late Senator Quay in the State Capitol Park was postponed for the present.

Representatives Hoyt, Morse and Pendleton of Bradford county all voted for the Ehrhart bill.

Made Assistant Cashier.

Olin D. Jacoby has been made one of the assistant cashiers of the American National Bank of San Francisco. Mr. Jacoby is a former Bradford county school teacher and is a son of E. H. Jacoby of Asylum township. After spending three years in New York city he went to California in 1901. His many friends here will be pleased to learn of his success.

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL RAN AWAY WITH A MAN.

He Deserted Her and the Girl Is Sorry Now.

About two weeks ago a fifteen year old girl from Oak Hill, near Rummerfield, ran away with a man who had been working out in that neighborhood. The couple came to Towanda, where they spent the night in the station, then walked to Ulster. Later they went to Elmira where they hired a room and the man borrowed $5 from the landlady. From there they went on in New York state and then the man deserted the girl just out of childhood and let her return home as best she could.

Now the father of the girl wants the scoundrel who ran away with his daughter apprehended. It is said that the man broke open a child's bank and took six or seven dollars from it and with the proceeds came here with the girl. The girl is now working out and is a sadder and wiser young woman.

TROLLEY ROADS FAIL.

Legislature Will Not Give Them Right to Carry Freight.

The Pennsylvania legislature is going to do the right thing by the railroad companies and so the measure to permit trolley roads to carry freight is going to be placed in an eternal pigeonhole there to gather dust.

The resolution offered by Mr. Creasy, of Columbia, in the house of representatives last Monday night to place on the calendar his bill giving the street railroad companies the right to carry freight, which was reported unfavorably from committee, was called up by its author at Monday night's session.

After a brief discussion in which Messrs. Creasy, Hays, of Butler; Herman, of Columbia; Reynolds, of Lawrence, and Sipes, of Fulton, advocated the adoption of the resolution, and Messrs. McClain, of Lancaster, and Cooper, of Delaware, opposed it, the resolution failed by a vote of 65 to 96.

TRAIN RIDER INJURED.

James Connelly, the 16 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Connelly of Sayre, had a narrow escape from death at an early hour on Tuesday morning at the Towanda bridge on the Lehigh Valley. He jumped from a freight train as it pulled westbound out of the bridge, thinking it was out of the bridge. Instead he was over the new span where there is no railing and went through to the bottom, a distance of about 20 feet, landing upon some loose rocks. He received a broken shoulder and severe injuries to his head.

The accident happened shortly after 1 o'clock. Connelly had attempted to ride a freight train to Towanda and had been carried by to the siding at Rummerfield. Taking another freight back he attempted to alight with the idea of taking No. 3 for home. He was hurried to the hospital at Sayre for treatment.

Raided Pool Rooms.

The Elmira police made some raids Friday night which The Advertiser says will do more toward the reformation of the young men of the city than almost anything else they could do. They made a systematic visit of the pool rooms in the central part of the city and drove out dozens of boys of tender age who make it a practice to loiter about them. They play pool when they can get the money and it is known that many of them use means of obtaining it which will lead to the comission of graver crimes when they become older. The police will keep up this practice and after this when boys are found around any of the pool rooms who appear to be under 16 or 17 years of age, they will be placed under arrest.

Oldest Engineer.

Casper Rosenstock, the oldest engineer in the service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has resigned, and is now working in the machine shops at Weatherly. He has been in charge of locomotives on different divisions of the road since 1861, and in all that time has never had a serious or costly accident. He began work on the road in 1856, and has just rounded out fifty years of active service. He started on the old Beaver Meadow road, which was later absorbed by the Lehigh Valley.

Frank R. Harden Dead.

Frank R. Harden died at his home in Athens Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 after an illness of some days with pleurisy and pneumonia aged 43 years Mr. Harden was the son of the late John J. Harden and was born in North Towanda; he had resided in Athens since 1887. He is survived by his wife and three children, three brothers—William of Athens, B. S. and Fred Harden of Towanda, and one one sister, Mrs. Jackson Rutty of Towanda.

MEETINGS ARE ENDED

Evangelist Davidson Urges That Work Continue.

ADVICE TO YOUNG CHRISTIANS

Urges Them to Read the Bible, Pray and Unite With Some Church and Take an Active Part in Its Christian Work.

The very successful evangelistic meetings conducted at the First Presbyterian church by Rev. Edgar E. Davidson closed Friday. Mr. Davidson opened the meetings here on Sunday, March 19, and he preached twice each day with the exception of Saturday. Much good has resulted and Mr. Davidson's work has been a blessed one here. He went from here to Hartford, Conn., where he will hold srvices from April 2 to 9; from there he goes to Savannah, N. Y., April 11 to 20; Sherman, N. Y., April 23, for three weeks. He will then return to his home at Newtonville, Mass., where he will spend the summer.

With the First Presbyterian church filled with friends and those who had taken the first step in Christian living, Rev. Edgar E. Davidson closed his services Friday night. His two weeks of meetings have been notably successful. He came to Towanda intensely interested in many of its families and children of those who were converted during Mr. Davidson's visit here 20 years ago have risen in these meetings a score of years later. Mr. Davidson has expended his strength and every bit of his power in his work here. The results of his efforts will be lasting without a doubt, in the majority of instances.

Friday afternoon, he gave a very practical and helpful talk on "Why Should the Work Cease?" He said that the meetings had resulted in making Christians stronger and that they had received blessings and that those who were not Christians had been led to the church. Why should this cease? In order for the work to continue among Christians he recommended three things, Bible study, secret prayer and church activity. Christians must do something and find some work here for Christ.

The Closing Service.

The closing sermon that night was from the text: "Thou Art Not Far from the Kingdom of God." The attendance at this meeting was very large. Mr. Davidson especially urged that young christians unite with some church.

Lehigh Engineer Killed.

While running at a terrific rate of speed Lehigh Valley passenger train No. 20, eastbound, dashed into a freight wreck at Caywood, a small station this side of Geneva, on Monday night between nine and ten o'clock. Silas Freer of Buffalo, the engineer of the passenger was buried beneath the engine which turned completely over. He was killed instantly and his body was not recovered until a late hour Tuesday afternoon.

Mail Agent C. M. Myer, of Towanda, was on the train making his run from Buffalo to New York.

Returned From the Hospital.

Mrs. R. J. Graham of Rummerfield, suffered a very painful sprain of one ankle five weeks ago. The injury grew worse and she was taken to the Packer hospital for treatment, returning home on Monday.

The careless spenders of Broadway pay more for long, comfortable, deep-vented sack suits than you would dream of unrolling, but they don't show up any more "classy" than you can in our Spring and Summer models (Stein-Bloch). There's been a lot of mystery wafted into crack clothes making; but it's as simple as the three R's: Master tailors, Master brains and Master fabrics. Before it's too late, try ours.

DEVELOPMENTS IN STRIKE AT MORRIS RUN MINES.

Temporary Injunction Granted by the Tioga County Courts.

The Morris Run Coal company last week secured a temporary injunction from the Tioga county court against a number of the leading striking miners at Morris Run, commanding them to desist from picketing or loitering about the works or congregating about or in the neighborhood of the mines for the intimidation or interference with the employes of the company. It enjoins them to desist from in any way interfering with the operation of the mines or attempting to prevent any persons who may desire to enter the employ of the company from so doing. The list of enjoined men includes most of the leading English speaking miners remaining at Morris Run.

Forty families were evicted from the company houses Thursday afternoon, and the same day notices to vacate were served on forty-six others. Sheriff Dorsett, who, with deputies, is on constant duty in the village, on Friday ordered the saloons of the town to be closed and kept closed until the strike is over. This order was due to a shooting affray that occurred that day, in which he and several of his deputies narrowly missed being hit.

The shot was fired from a boarding house into a crowd of miners to whom the Sheriff was speaking. An investigation disclosed the fact that the shot had been fired by a drunken non-union man. The striking miners are chafing under the restraint of the injunction, but they declare that they will maintain good order to the end.

Next Saturday will be the anniversary of the inauguration of the strike. The forty families who moved out of the company's houses on Thursday were furnished temporary quarters at Blossburg and at Arnot.

If the injunction is made permanent, it is said the intention of the company is to bring in several carloads of strike-breakers and resume work.

DEATH OF AZOR S. ROCKWELL.

Prominent Citizen of Troy Called to His Long Home Last Week.

Azor S. Rockwell, one of the best known and most substantial farmers of the western part of the county, died at his home near Troy borough on Saturday forenoon, after an illness with pneumonia. He was about 70 years of age, and is survived by his wife and two adopted children—Azor Putnam Rockwell and Mrs. Jennie Stanton. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Rockwell was the eighth son of the late Luther Rockwell, and was the fifth of nine brothers to pass away. He was born and lived all his life on the homestead where he died. He was for many years an influential member of the Troy Baptist church and a deacon of the society. The funeral services, which were held in the church, were very largely attended.

The acre reclaimed is always like the lost sheep, an acre which always gives us more pleasure to cultivate than the ninety and nine which were always good.

Where a farm is kept one-half in grass, with stock to utilize the grass and other products of the farm, it will in the very nature of things become more productive each year.

If there is any talk about a trolley line in your neighborhood it will be good money in your pocket to get next to the project, give the right of way through your farm and help it all you can.

The stump of a tree represents some of the meanest and most destructive work of men. It is too often economic wreckage, the sacrifice of the useful, the artistic and beautiful for a paltry present gain. Some men seem to hate a tree on general principles, when it is one of the most beneficent gifts of nature.

We are asked whether if a crop of seed clover plowed under in late September will so seed the land as to insure a stand of clover one year later. We have known this to be done quite frequently: The clover seed crop to be plowed under, as stated, a crop of corn to be taken from the ground the next year, this to be followed with oats, and a fine crop of clover to follow without additional seeding. In ordinary seasons this result may reasonably be looked for.

A boy can never be interested in farm work unless some effort is made to make his work pleasant for him. If he is given a poor horse to care for, a poor tool to work with, hard and unpleasant work to do and no tangible and visible money return for his labor, he will take the first chance to leave the farm and try his luck at something else. It is really a very easy proposition to interest most boys in the farm, but they must be treated as boys and not as hired men.

A reader in Illinois wishes to know whether speltz would be a good crop for him to grow on his farm, located in central Illinois. We think not. Speltz is not as good or as useful a cereal as either wheat, rye, barley or oats where they will grow, but has a wide field of utility in the dry or semiarid regions where none of these cereals will do well. It would be, however, all right to experiment with a small patch and see, but we would have no confidence in it as a useful plant for the locality named.

When a farm produces much more forage than can be consumed on the place, such as corn stover, hay, straw and the like, and this surplus forage is either wasted or destroyed, the general plan of operation on such farm needs changing. More land should be put in pasture, a smaller area of cereals raised and more stock be kept. The silo is a most valuable factor in such new plan, its use on the average sixty acre farm being good for the keep of at least fifteen more head of stock than it would ever carry under the old plan.

A friend wishes to know if the bacterial culture supplied by the department of agriculture is of value in treating land to be sown to clover. We hardly think that it is. Nearly all land will grow clover, save the few localities where the soil because of acidity has become what is termed "clover sick." The bacteria incident to the growth and development of the clover plant are present in nearly all well drained soils, and a dressing of ten or twelve loads of barnyard fertilizer to the acre with a manure spreader will in nearly all cases insure a vigorous growth of clover. The case seems to be different with alfalfa, the bacterial life associated with the development of this legume either being entirely absent or in such limited amount as to make the inoculation of the soil an important factor in attempting to grow it.

There are a few signs which mark the good farmer which never fail. One is that he will not try to work more land than he can do well, another that he will insist on rotating his crops, another that he will keep at least a third of his land in clover or grass. He will also save and use all the manure made on the farm, and if he does not keep registered stock he will at least keep high grade animals. Then his fall plowing is done early—in August, if possible. He will cut up his corn and save the fodder. He is quite likely to have a silo, and you will usually find in his poultry yard well bred chickens of some one breed. He will keep his home yard neat and attractive, have a tool house and a shed for his machinery, keep his buildings painted and the weeds cut along the highway on his farm. He is sure to attend his town caucus and is quite likely to go to church on Sunday, while his boys and girls will have the advantage of a normal school or college education. He will be a reader and thinker as well as a worker, having found out that brains count for more than muscle in farm work. You know him? We do.

THE BARREN STALK.

There are plenty of men who would not for a moment think of using a weak, degenerate sire for their herds who will still plant weak and degenerate kernels of corn, which at best can only develop vigor enough to shove up a weak stalk and throw off a little pollen, never attempting to make an ear, making up what has been found to be not less than 20 per cent of the stand in many a cornfield. In fact, the use of seed of low vitality, which is the prime cause of the barren stalk, is almost as great a loss to the average corn grower as though the seed would not germinate at all, for this barren stalk but robs its more thrifty and healthy brother of light, sunshine, fertility and moisture and is worth nothing save for fodder. Then, further, its pollen, which it scatters over the field, is always at work lowering the grade of all corn with which it comes in contact. Better no stalk than this scrub parasite in the cornfield.

Those 100 young roosters which you will raise this spring should be properly operated upon at the right time and converted into 100 eight pound capons to bring you over a dollar apiece next winter. Just as well have it done as not. The old way they are not worth over 25 cents each.

A practical and profitable system of crop rotation is more needed all through the corn belt than any other one thing. Where corn will grow neither oats nor wheat will do very well, and the temptation is ever present to follow corn with corn, to the manifest injury of the crop and the soil.

One trouble is that men are apt to regard the whole cornfield as the unit, when the real unit should be each individual hill. If the field as a whole looks well and thrifty they think they have a good field of corn, when a close examination will show that some hills are missing, some with a single kernel in, some with altogether too many. It is this way of doing which reduces the yield of corn per acre.

The farmers everywhere should get up on both hind feet and insist that the telephone poles which now are found along almost all public highways stuck out about four feet from the fences shall be removed back on to the fence line. As now set it is impossible to mow the highways with any ease. We often wonder what lunatic started this plan of sticking them out into the road. They would be moved if on our farm mighty quick.

The habit and growth of trees are very excellent indications of the fertility of the soil where they grow, this supposing that the rainfall of any given locality is sufficient for vigorous tree growth. Where trees grow tall and thrifty there is a strong soil. Where they grow gnarly and scrubby there is a poor soil. The vigorous and thrifty timber growth will always be associated with an equally vigorous and healthy growth of the lesser things—the shrubs, bushes and vines. Large trees will be found where hazel brush and blackberry vines grow to a height of eight feet.

The common gray rabbit, which is generally supposed to be a timber animal, has with the settlement of the prairies become a very common attache of all prairie farms. He finds the cornfields a fine place in which to breed and hide and takes naturally to road culverts and the bits of grove scattered all over. He has to dodge the hen hawk and the big barn owl during the summer and the farmers' boys during the winter. We have known as many as 100 of these rabbits to be killed in a single day out on the prairie the past winter. The principal harm which they do is to the young fruit trees, and in this connection they must be closely watched.

A man city born and bred and now a resident of one of our largest cities told us recently that because he had become interested in reading these notes he had further become interested in trying to grow some fruit, flowers and shrubs on his city lot and that last year he had turned his attention to roses, asters, a strawberry bed and some other things which he had room to grow, and he added that he had come to take a most intense pleasure in this sort of work, being only too willing to get up early in the morning to care for his pets, as he called them, and finding in doing this work a most welcome and healthful change and relaxation from his confining office work. The love of nature and nature study is latent in almost all men, and its development is always refining, healthful and inspiring, a cure for many a human ill both physical and mental.

The restless, migratory disposition of the American people is utterly destructive of one of the best assets of life, and that the benefits which grow out of continuity of residence and employment in a given place and with a given business. It is easy to find people—and they are pretty good people, too—who in the course of twenty-five years have been in half a dozen different lines of business and lived in a dozen different places, roamed from the east to the far west, from north to south, been farmers, fruit growers, storekeepers, speculators, handled insurance and machinery, dabbled in politics and preaching, always unsatisfied and a-moving, never getting ahead in a financial way and having few or no reliable and old time friends. While this spirit of unrest has done much to populate and develop all sections of the country and was the legitimate outgrowth of our pioneer life, its day of usefulness is past, and no one lesson is more needed to be learned by the American people now than this of sticking to one business and one locality and thus reaping the valuable rewards which inevitably are associated with continuity of employment and residence. It is all right to travel and see the world as one has opportunity, but stick to the old home and the old business.

HE DOES NOT WANT MORE LAND.

You have a good farm of 160 acres and are not content, but want more land. Let's see. You raised last year an average of thirty-three bushels of corn to the acre and thirty-two of oats; your hay gave you one ton and a quarter to the acre, your potatoes ninety-five bushels; you got $89 from your poultry yard, and your cows returned you $30 each for cream sold; your steers sold a good way under the top of the market, and the only full blooded thing you have on the place is a shepherd dog, which followed you home from town one day. See here; you don't want any more land. If you had more acres to work, your crops would be still smaller. The trouble is the acres you have want a coat of brains. We passed your place the other day and saw your stock eating up and wasting a poorly built stack of what was last July fine timothy and clover hay; we saw your milk cows one cold morning out in the cornfield foraging among the stalks and noticed toward night that your hens roosted in the trees around the barn; we also saw your wife with a shawl over her head digging around the wood pile to get a little dry wood to cook your supper with, and you recollect we met you in town loafing on a dry goods box and cussing the government. You know that your boy was pulled before the mayor for getting drunk and raising Cain one night lately and that about that time one of your best horses was ruined with a barbed wire cut because the halter rope was rotten and the barn door off the hinges. You don't want any more land. The more you have the worse you will be off. Better just stop and have a good thinking spell all by yourself and see if you can't better yourself under existing conditions. It is entirely possible for you on this farm to double your present income, and that's no joke either. Brains and work will make the old farm give you sixty bushels of corn to the acre, two and a half tons of hay, fifty-five bushels of oats. You can get $500 income from your cows, and your poultry yard should give you $250 if properly managed. Run in debt if need be for a manure spreader tomorrow and get those 400 loads of manure, which makes a bog of your barnyard, out on to the fields. Test those cows and fire the unprofitable ones. Get a $150 bull at the head of your herd, sow at least twenty acres of clover this spring and every spring thereafter, rotate your crops, build a silo, save your corn fodder, get dry wood handy for your wife, quit loafing in town, fill your home with good reading matter and quit cussing the administration and wishing for more land. You will think inside of three years you have more land than you can work. The foregoing is perhaps not very nicely said, but it is the truth and sizes up the case of a whole lot of you fellows.

TESTING SEED CORN.

Hundreds of men who read this item will be planting a field of corn before long. Most of them have their seed corn saved after a fashion; some have it in the crib, some up in the attic, some in the oat bin, some down cellar. Few of them really know just what per cent of this seed corn will grow. Many of them will test it by selecting a few kernels here and there and planting them, but that will be all. There is a better way—a method by which the exact germinating power of the seed corn can be determined. It requires a little time and patience, but the work can be done during stormy days. Take the corn selected for seed and lay it all out on the table or on the floor. First make a careful selection as to type, throwing out all ears which are not up to the standard which you select; then put the selected ears in groups of ten each and number each ear; then take out four kernels from different parts of each car, laying them opposite each car; then take a box five inches deep and large enough to test each ear, marking it off in one and one-half inch squares after it is filled with two inches of sand or loam. Number the squares in pencil so that they will correspond to the numbers on the corn, place the four kernels in their proper square, lay over them a sheet of cloth and place on that an inch or so of damp sawdust. Set the box in a room where the temperature will not be over 70 and inside of a week you can gently raise the cloth and find out just what kind of seed corn you have got. Ears which are thus shown to be defective or weak in germinating power can then be identified and thrown out. Good seed has more to do with the yield of the corn crop than most people think.

The summer supply of fuel should be got together right now and put where the good wife can always have dry wood. If we were a woman and our man should make us hunt fuel to cook his meals with, we would feed him on raw oatmeal and soggy biscuits until he came to.

Fewer acres and better seed and culture should be the motto for the farm work for the year 1905.

Fish Hospital at Vienna.

The Frankfort (Germany) News states that since the beginning of the winter term a station for research and observation of sick fish has been established at the Veterinary High school at Vienna, under the direction of Professor Dr. Fiebiger. Officials of this institution will investigate the biology and pathology of fish. One of the main objects of the researches will be to study whether certain diseases of fish are transmitted to man, and if so to what extent. The scientific diagnosis of the sick fish is affixed to each compartment containing them. Fishes are to be found suffering from smallpox and others from intestinal catarrh. A dolphin was brought to the institute with a disease which was diagnosed as inflammation of the lungs.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE.

Body of Manley Mackey Found on Lehigh Tracks.

The body of a stranger, well dressed, but badly mangled, was found on the Lehigh Valley tracks at Meshoppen, just above the railroad bridge, at about 9:30 Monday night of last week. To all appearance the man had committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a passing train. Coroner Meade was summoned from Tunkhannock, but deemed an inquest unnecessary, and on Tuesday the body was interred at Overfield cemetery.

It later transpired that the stranger was Manley Mackey, of Lathrop township, Susquehanna county. He is said to have been demented and attempted suicide at Staats' pond, near East Lynn, that same day, but someone rescued him, and he went on his way to Meshoppen, where he accomplished his purpose. His clothes were wet to the waist line when the body was found.

Wednesday a brother of the deceased, who had been following his trail for a day or two, came to Meshoppen, had the body disinterred, and identified it. It was taken to Lathrop for burial. Manley Mackey taught school in the Gravel Hill independent district a dozen or fifteen years ago, and was considered a fine young man. He is said to have been in good financial circumstances, and would doubtless not have sought self-destruction had he been in normal mental condition.

After careful investigation the claim was disallowed, and the very next day the toil-hater left his bed and with a sad heart and halting step, went to work again.

FLYING SMITHS HELD

Higgins Issues Requisition For Nan Patterson's Relatives.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE.

Wanted as Witnesses In Caesar Young Murder Case—New York District Attorney Thinks Their Testimony Will Convict Accused Actress.

Albany, N. Y., March 31.—Governor Higgins has issued a requisition upon the governor of Ohio for the return to this state of J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Julia Patterson Smith, who were arrested in Cincinnati, O., on charges involving connection with the former show girl, Nan Patterson, in the alleged murder of Caesar Young, the New York bookmaker, last June in New York city. Smith and his wife were wanted by the New York prosecuting authorities as principal witnesses in the trial of Nan Patterson, of whom Mrs. Smith is a sister, but they could not be found, and the trial, resulting in a disagreement of the jury, was prosecuted without them.

The indictment upon which their return is required charges conspiracy, and the papers accompanying Governor Higgins' request for their extradition from Ohio alleges that they are fugitives from justice in this state.

Nan Patterson's freedom or death in the electric chair hangs on the arrest of J. Morgan Smith and his wife. Their appearance at the third trial of the actress will supply a powerful link in the chain of evidence for or against her.

Assistant District Attorney Rand, the prosecutor in the two previous trials, is convinced that Hyman Stern, the pawnbroker who sold the revolver with which Young was slain to a man and woman thirteen hours before the cab tragedy, will identify the Smiths and that a verdict of guilty will follow.

The pawnbroker holds the key to the mystery of the tragedy. He has already identified a photograph of Smith as the man who purchased the pistol. Through him the state hopes to trace the pistol from its source to the hand of Nan Patterson in the scuffle with Young while riding down West Broadway.

Caught After Long Chase.

Smith's arrest followed a series of wanderings in this country and in Canada, in which he was followed by a detective working for Jerome. For a time the sleuth even traveled in Smith's company. When the brother-in-law of Nan Patterson and his wife met in Cincinnati, where he had gone either in search of work or to ask assistance from a relative, word was sent to District Attorney Jerome, and he wired the chief of police of Cincinnati to hold the fugitives.

On being arrested Smith and his wife admitted their identity at once. Word had been received five weeks ago that Smith was in Canada, and Detective Aiken was sent there to trail him. The detective found Smith and his wife in Montreal and struck up an acquaintance with them. They knew the nature of his employment, but were not aware that he was on their trail. After finding the pair Aiken took no chances with them. He either went with the Smiths or followed them about by day, and at night he sat in the halls of the hotels where they stopped until he was certain they had gone to bed.

UNWISE LEGISLATION.

What are known as the Puhl-Edwards-Ehrhardt bills have passed both Houses of the legislature and now await the action of the governor. These measures, if they receive the approval of the governor, will seriously cripple the power and usefulness of the Law and Order society of Philadelphia. Under the text of the first bill a man must not give even to a relief or church society unless his contribution is entered up and included in a report to be regularly published. The Edwards bill is even more unmistakable in its purpose. It places in the hands of the police, whether in a city, borough, county or township, the arbitrary power to approve or disapprove criminal warrants.

We have not seen anywhere any attempt to justify the passing of these bills. No theory can explain their enactment except the criminal purpose generally assigned them, and it does not seem possible the governor will permit legislation of this disgraceful character to become law. It is with deep regret that we are obliged to record the fact that all the members of the House of Representatives of this county voted for these measures.

The late William H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island Railroad, was one of the most considerate and best-liked of New York's employers. Yet he had an inflexible rule in employing and discharging men, says the World's Work. Speaking once on the subject, Mr. Baldwin said: "There is a rule that experience has taught me to be correct. It is a rule that I have used for years in my business, and that has not once led me astray. It is this—whenever I discover one of my men looking back with pride over his accomplishments, instead of keeping his eyes forward—well, that's quite enough for me. I don't wait for any positive offense. No matter how capable he may have been, I put a cross against his name, and he goes out at the first opportunity. When a man gets to looking back on his record his usefulness is past."

Mayor McClellan of New York city did a real service the other night when he read a lecture to boys on profanity. American boys and men need reminders of this sin as much as any in the decalogue. The conversation of many of them is a string of oaths from morning until night. Every inconvenience that some men meet in work or in play is the occasion for a vile oath. Boys, still in their teens and allowed to frequent pool rooms, curse and damn every time that they make a poor shot. Their language would put to shame some of the hardened old reprobates. Swearing is not only a wicked habit but it is an unnecessary and weak one.

Mrs. Chadwick was enabled to make some of her loans by giving notes for large amounts and taking in consideration therefore anywhere from fifty to seventy-five per cent. of the face of her paper. This appears to indicate that the bankers were so greedy to make money that they never stopped to consider whether her notes were good, but accepted them, thinking only of the time in the final settlement they would receive a big bonus for the loans they made. This is note shaving with a vengeance.

From the great courtesy that the beef trust magnates are paying to witnesses who are to appear at the investigation it looks as though they were very much afraid that the witnesses know more than the beef men want them to. More than the cars are yellow in the beef trust's busy life.

There has not been very many bonfires yet this Spring. So it is possible to lock the stable before the horse is out. Don't let children play near bonfires. Every year witnesses scores of little ones burned to death in this manner. It is a most dangerous pastime.

The base ball season at the American colleges and universities is on and by June 15 the student body will be able to pass a rigid examination on shoots, roots and hoots. Base ball is a subject that everybody elects and nobody gets flunked.

INCREASED COST OF LIVING.

The United States Bureau of Labor recently sent experts throughout the country with a view of ascertaining exactly how much the market price of the necessaries of life have increased in recent years. These men extended the inquiry into 33 States of the Union, picking out families whose incomes did not exceed $1,200 a year. In this way 25,440 families, comprising 124,108 persons, located in the principal industrial centers of the United States, were covered. The conclusions reached are most interesting.

All important food articles except sugar and coffee are higher at the present time than the average for the 10-year period from 1890 to 1900. In looking back upon the course of prices since 1890 it is interesting to discover (from figures compiled by the Government) that in that year $1 would buy seven and four-fifths pounds of fresh beef, while today it will purchase only six and four-fifths pounds. That amount of money in 1890 would buy ten pounds of salt beef; today nine pounds. Of salt pork in 1890 it would buy nine and a half pounds; today a little over seven pounds. One dollar in 1890 would purchase seven and a quarter pounds of chickens; today less than six and a quarter pounds. It would buy ten pounds of fresh fish in 1890; today nine and a third pounds. In 1890 it would pay for five dozen and four eggs; today for only four dozen and three. One dollar in 1890 would buy nearly seventeen quarts of milk; today less than than sixteen quarts. It would purchase in 1890 four and a quarter pounds of butter; today only three and three-quarter pounds. One dollar in 1890 was a fair equivalent for six and a third pounds of cheese; today it will purchase half a pound less.

Today $1 will buy less than eight and a helf pounds of lard; in 1890 it would pay for nearly eleven pounds. Of corn-meal today you can purchase for that sum thirty-eight and a half pounds; in 1890 you could get forty-six and a half pounds. When it is considered that the average American family whose income does not exceed $1,200 spends (as has been ascertained by Government investigators) nearly 45 per cent. of its entire income on food, it is easily seen how great a difference is made by a raise in prices of 10 to 25 cents on every dollar's worth of edible supplies, covering meats, vegetables and practically all other eatables. As compared with the average prices governing during the period from 1890 to 1900 it is reckoned by the United States Bureau of Labor that hams and salt beef have gone up 12 per cent., salt pork and bacon 32 per cent., lard 35 per cent., fresh vegetables 13 per cent., corn-meal 16 per cent., crackers 19 per cent., New Orleans molasses 20 per cent., beans 31 per cent., herrings 31 per cent., salt 21 per cent., pepper 72 per cent. and currants 121 per cent.

TO BOOM A CITY.

The Chester Times in a recent editorial offered suggestions regarding the best way to boom a city, which are so good that they should be reproduced. Among the hints are the following:

You can repair that broken sidewalk and plant one or two shade trees.

You can clean up that back alley.

You can say something nice about the town when away from home.

You can patronize home trade as much as possible.

You can join the board of trade and help to secure new industries.

You can contribute more freely to your own church.

You can paint your house, fix up the dooryard, plant flowers and look pleasant.

It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. BUTTER TRADE ALARMED.

The passage by the house at Harrisburg of the Cope bill to legalize the use of harmless coloring matter by Pennsylvania butter and cheese-makers caused considerable concern in the wholesale butter trade in Philadelphia and is causing wide spread discussion around the state. It was contended that if the bill should pass the senate and become a law it would drive out of the Philadelphia and other Pennsylvania markets all of the butter made in the West and in other sections of the country outside of the state. The reason for this effect of the law, as explained by butter merchants, lies in the fact that while the Pure Food department under the new law would permit the use of small quantities of annatto by the state creameries, it would not be possible to sell butter colored by coal tar products, which are used extensively in other parts of the country and up to this time in Pennsylvania also.

Under a recent decision of the state courts any ingredient introduced into food manufactures which is poisonous in any quantity makes an unlawful adulteration even though the quantity used be infinitesimal. This would bar all coal tar products from butter color, and as Western producers who use them would not conform to Pennsylvania requirements, receivers and sellers of Elgin and other outside creamery and dairy products would be liable to prosecution. It would be impossible for any grocer to know without chemical analysis whether the color used in the butter offered to or by him was "harmless" under the law, and as a result the butter dealers fear serious injury to their business.

It is said that the bill which has just passed the house is supported by the pure food department, but the Pure Butter Protective association and other organizations of butter men have indorsed the Hitchcock bill, which legalizes the use of coloring matter in harmless quantities, but is not open to the objections urged against the Cope bill. The Hitchcock measure has passed the house, but for some reason is still slumbering in the hands of the senate committee.

Some butter-makers, however, have opposed the passage of the Hitchcock bill, as they contend that the word "harmless" is a dangerous one, and can readily be misconstrued. It is held that coal tar, in small quantities, is "harmless." It is also said that unscrupulous producers or manufacturers of oleo may have a loop-hole to creep out. These dairymen are favorable only to the production of pure butter, unadulterated and uncolored by anything except the ingredients which are fed to stock and mixed by physical process by the cows. One man expresses his views as follows: "We do not want butter tampered with. Let pure country butter stand on its natural basis; oleo the same. Adulteration or coloring of butter may be disadvantageous for the price of the article."

President Roosevelt's idea of the wrong of not having children has evidently made a deep impression at Homestead, Pa., where several departments were greatly handicapped by the absence of highup employees. The superintendent was puzzled as to the cause of the sudden desertion of so many of the men and made an examination. He found that the stork had visited the families of 31 workmen and that the population had been increased accordingly.

Delaware has abolished the pillory. "Now," says the Philadelphia Record, "if Pennsylvania would abolish fraudulent registration the people of both states would have reason to get gay and congratulate themselves on the advance of civilization."

To Hasten Weightman Will Suit.

Philadelphia, April 4.—Mrs. Jones Wister has decided immediately to begin her contest of William Weightman's will. This sudden decision of Mrs. Wister was brought about by a brief talk over the telephone that she had with Mrs. Anne M. Weightman Walker. Mrs. Wister called up Mrs. Walker to make a last personal appeal for her children. The conversation was in monosyllables, and before half a dozen words had been spoken Mrs. Walker, it is said, snubbed Mrs. Wister. This so incensed Mrs. Wister that she decided to begin proceedings as speedily as possible.

BETTER FOOD AT LESS COST.

Mrs. Rorer, the celebrated authority on the preparation of foods, has been giving a series of talks on various topics connected with her general subject, lately, in Philadelphia. While these talks are always interesting, they sometimes touch questions of which the average housewife knows little or nothing, which ignorance is costly, in a financial sense. For example, she told why some parts of a steer yield more tender meet than the others, and why these cost more, and also described how the cheaper cuts could be made equally palatable by proper preparation and cooking.

Mrs. Rorer said that in an animal weighing from 800 to 1,000 pounds you find comparatively little real tender meat. For instance, the loin and the six standing ribs about cover what the ordinary housewife calls desirable cuts. Excessive prices must be charged for these pieces to cover the loss on the so-called cheaper cuts. The cheaper cuts, by the way, are not inferior in nourishment or flavor. In fact, if properly cooked, they have a high flavor, and are desirable. A sirloinsteak may be broiled. The ribs may be roasted or baked, and are palatable. But a slice from the round or pieces from the shoulder must be treated entirely different. The muscles are hardened by exercise, and they require moist heat. The so-called covered roasting pans, and you can not roast in a covered pan, by the way, are desirable for the cheaper cuts of meat. The moisture aids in the slow cooking of the meat and makes it tender. If you have not time for the moist heat in cooking, the meat may be chopped before it is cooked, and such dishes as Hamburg steak, cannelon and the original nut meat balls may be made. The fibre here is torn apart and the meat may be quickly cooked. It must be remembered, however, that a Hamburg steak with an equal thickness of a plain steak requires a longer time for cooking.

These are things that all skillful housewives should learn. They are important from an economical as well as culinary point of view; will give us better foods at a smaller cost, and make things move along more smoothly.

THERE'S BETTER HEALTH HERE.

The new psychological magazine, Suggestion, gives wholesome advice that might be heeded with profit by persons of a melancholy turn, who are afflicted by ailments principally of the imaginary variety. Thousands of people actually think themselves to death every year by allowing their minds to dwell on morbid subjects. The idea that one has some incipient disease in one's system, the thought of financial ruin, that one is getting on in life without improving prospects—any of these or a thousand similar thoughts may carry a healthy man to a premature grave.

A melancholy mind needs as much doctoring as a physical disease. It needs to be eradicated from the mind or it will have the same result as a neglected disease. Every melancholy thought, every morbid notion and every nagging worry should be resisted to the utmost, and the patient should be protected by cheerful thoughts, of which there is a bountiful store in everyone's possession. Bright companions are cheaper than drugs and plasters. The morbid condition of mind produces a morbid condition of body, and if the disease does happen to be in the system, it receives every encouragement to develop. The world needs more mental therapy.

THIRTEEN THOUSAND FOR LICENSES FOR LIQUOR.

That Amount Paid by Dealers in Bradford County.

The sum of $12,850 is paid by the keepers of hotels, restaurants, wholesalers, bottlers and brewers of Bradford county for licenses for the sale of liquor. Of this amount the borough of Sayre pays the largest amount, $3,450 with Towanda second with a total payment of $3,000. Sayre has eleven hotels and restaurants, three wholesale, one bottler and one brewers license. Towanda has twelve hotels and restaurants, and five wholesalers licenses. Hotels and restaurants in boroughs pay $200 each, bottlers $250, wholesalers $200 and brewers according to the number of barrels. The Sayre Brewing company pays a tax of $400 which allows them to brew between 2,000 and 3,000 barrels. In the townships hotels and restaurants pay a license of $100 a year.

None of the money received from the licenses for wholesalers, bottlers or brewers is returned to the place where the establishment is located. This all goes to the state. Of the other license money one-fourth goes to the state, one-fifth of the remaining three-fourths goes to the county and four-fifths to the township or borough. The county treasurer gets 5 per cent. on the first thousand and one per cent. on each other thousand dollars from each different district. The total amount of money received in Bradford county last year from all manner of licenses, liquor, automobile, hunting, fishing, mercantile, etc., was $18,000.

ANOTHER MAD DOG.

Animal of H. J. Shaylor Shot on Account of Rabies.

A dog belonging to H. J. Shaylor was shot Friday afternoon by Dr. C. S. Means. The dog was one of those bitten by the first mad dog in Towanda and has been kept confined since that time. A little girl has been tending to it but on Thursday the dog began to get ugly and snapped at the little one. Then it began to tear up its pen, chewing the boards and growling and snapping.

Dr. Means went with Chief Miller to see the animal and gave it as his opinion that the dog's actions and the appearance of its eyes indicated that it was a clear case of rabies. Chief Miller will more than ever enforce the resolution of the council regarding the muzzling of dogs under penalty of their being shot and all dogs bitten should be securely confined. There is no doubt that rabies exists in Towanda and it should be thoroughly stamped out now.

Mr. and Mrs. Walborn will make a short visit to New York and other points of interest. The bride is highly esteemed in the community in which she has resided, and the groom is one of the best citizens of Sayre. For nearly 20 years he has been one of the most trustworthy Lehigh Valley engineers. They will be at home to their many friends after April 10 at 518 Keystone avenue, Sayre.

Buy Louisiana Land.

It is stated that the Goodyear Lumber company, with headquarters at Galeton, Potter county, has purchased 250,000 acres of Louisiana timber lands and that the work of manufacturing on a large scale will commence this season. The estimated cut is upwards of 2,000,000,000 feet and the proposed rate of manufacture is 300,000 daily. It is thought that the tract cannot be stripped in less time than 30 years. Two mills each with a daily output of 140,000 feet are to be erected not far from New Orleans. A number of Clearfield county woodsmen will go to these southern operations.

WRITES FROM TOWANDA.

Dairy and Food Department Man Has Been Here of Late.

R. Newton Thomas of Chester county has been in Towanda of late in the interests of the state dairy and food department. Under date of March 26 he wrote a letter from Towanda to a relative in West Chester and the West Chester Daily Local News published it in part as follows:

This is the county seat of Bradford county. The people are about of the same class as those of West Chester, but no Quakers. Quite a number of well to do and retired farmers. It has a good class of stores of all kinds. A very fine court house, very much more modern than ours. It is up to date and handsome. The Susquehanna River is within one square of the hotel named at the top of the paper. The people seem to be quite sociable, and good, honest citizens. Most all the merchants make their purchases in New York State. Very few deal in Philadelphia, Elmira, N. Y., and Binghamton are good business towns, not far away, and easy of access.

This is a great county for making maple syrup from the sap. But the crop this year will be quite limited for some cause not known exactly. The sap commences to run about the 20th of March generally, but this Spring it has failed to do so in three-fourths of the groves. The farmers get about ninety cents to one dollar per gallon at the stores for it. They have plenty of good butter and milk here. Best print butter, thirty cents; eggs, sixteen cents; dressed chickens, fifteen cents.

I took a three or four-mile walk and then attended the Presbyterian church. The evangelist preacher—name of Davidson—spoke on all subjects, and gave a very interesting discourse. They have a very fine up-to-date church, and a good-sized congregation. There is a very large toy factory here. They say it is the largest in the United States. They make nothing but children's toys. There is also a furniture factory here. About fourteen miles from here is a large saw mill, which cuts 150,000 feet of lumber per day. And near it is located a very large chemical works. They consume forty-eight cords of wood every day in manufacturing wood alcohol. They also make tar at the same time from the hard wood that is used, and other chemicals are extracted from the charcoal.

BOUGHT A RAILROAD.

Extensive Business Deal Consummated by a Junk Dealer.

After a sharp competition between a number of scrap iron dealers in various parts of the country, M. D. Adelson, who has establishments in Pittston and Wilkesbarre, has been successful in purchasing the complete railroad of Jennings Bros., lumber dealers, at Lopez, Pa. The road is 14 miles in length and has numerous switches. It was used by Jennings Bros. in hauling logs from an extensive timber tract at Lopez to their lumber mills.

The rails used in the construction of the road weigh 40 pounds to the yard and are of the best steel, being still in good condition, although having been in service for several years. The rails, together with the splice bars and frogs, will weigh about 1,000 tons. Mr. Adelson will resell the rails for relaying purposes and already has commenced to ship the material. The deal was one of the most extensive that has been consummated in that particular business in this section of the state in many years and involves about $25,000.

NON-SUIT IN DALTON CASE. STRICKEN OFF BY COURT.

The compulsory non-suit granted by Judge Fanning in May 1903 in the suit of James Dalton vs. Towanda borough has now been stricken off and a new trial granted. Mr. Dalton was severely burned by an explosion of dust in the Cash creek culvert near the river bank in 1897. He carried a torch and dust from the J. O. Frost's Sons mill exploded.

On the first trial of Mr. Dalton's suit for damages, J. O. Frost's Sons were made a party to the suit and the verdict of the jury was set aside because it was a double verdict, assessing a specified sum against each party. The action against Frost's Sons was withdrawn and the borough sued alone. As the result of the trial in 1903, the court granted a compulsory non-suit.

AN OLD SETTLER.

Paper Issued in 1831 Has Some Interesting Notices.

Judge Fanning has in his possession a copy of the Bradford Settler of Feb. 10, 1831, when H. A. Kerr was editor and publisher. The copy is somewhat yellowed with age but the printing is legible. In this copy there is the annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county for the year 1830 when the sum of $10,000 represented the total amount expended.

The editor has an interesting notice as follows: "The highest prices will be allowed on accounts for oats and maple sugar at the office of The Settler." The editor evidently had a horse or two and also a sweet tooth. The price of the paper was $2. One notice stated that a reward of $1 was offered for the return of a boy who had run away from the home of Asa Pratt in Canton.

Unpleasant Experience With Gas.

Henry Swingle, a clerk in the J. W. Swingle store, had an unpleasant experience with illuminating gas on Sunday morning. He is a boarder at the home of F. J. Kline at the corner of Bridge and Third streets Sunday morning about 9:30 one of the young men in the house in going through the hall smelled gas. He made an investigation and found the room occupied by Swingle to be full of gas which was escaping from an open jet. The young man was sleeping soundly, and was quite seriously affected by the fumes. A physician was called and soon had the young man all right again. The gas pipes of the house had been obstructed for several days until Saturday, and it is believed the jet was opened when there was no gas in the pipes to give a warning.

Fell From a Roof.

Chester J. Bresee, of the Dye & Bresee hardware store, met with a painful accident on Monday afternoon in a fall from the roof of the Pratt brick barn on State street. Mr. Bresee in company with Asa Douglas was upon the roof laying tin. He miscalculated the distance and walked off the edge backwards, falling a distance of 20 feet and striking upon his head and shoulders. His left wrist was broken and he received severe bruises. The softness of the ground and the fact that he encountered no obstructions alone prevented more serious injuries.

Swallowed a Quarter.

A Ralston correspondent says: "The four-year-old son of Peter Polonas, of Redburn, swallowed a twenty-five cent piece recently which lodged in his throat and as all efforts to remove it proved fruitless, he was taken to the Williamsport hospital where they succeeded in moving it sufficiently to remove danger of strangulation or starvation and it is thought he will recover."

LINTA HOSE COMPANY TO BE INVITED GUESTS.

Will Renew Friendship With Binghamton Company.

Fountain Hose No. 4 of Binghamton held its election Monday night at its quarters on Water street. After the election had been concluded, the members of the company held an impromptu spread and smoker on the third floor. Both the election and spread were well attended.

After the election of officers it was decided to invite a hose company to be the guest of the Fountains at the fiftieth annual parade of the Binghamton Fire Department, to be held on August 24. This question hardly required a vote for it was the consensus of opinion that the Linta hose of Towanda, Pa., be invited for the event. For a period extending over a quarter of a century, the most pleasant relations have existed between the two companies.

In the parade of the department of this city in 1875, the Lintas were guests of Fountains and in the following year the organizations united and attended the grand parade of firemen at the Philadelphia centennial. In this parade, the combined companies won the honors of the day.—Binghamton Republican.

SOME FOOL "JOKES."

Doctors Were Fooled and Bogus Invitations Were Sent Out.

The April fool joker was busy on Saturday in Towanda and he didn't confine himself to the brick under a hat and the stuffed wallet, either. Several physicians responded in a bunch to a hurry up telephone call, going to a house on River street only to find no one needing their services.

It is reported that a flange was torn off from one of the wheels on the engine's truck and that the wheels left the track but the next revolution caused them to jump on the rails again.

The train was stopped and backed up to the point where a log chewed and mangled by by the wheels passing over it was found. Small chains found close by indicated very clearly that the log had been placed there for the purpose of wrecking the train.

I. O. O. F. MEMBERSHIP.

Gain of Over 4,000 in the State Last Year—Grand Lodge Meeting.

At the coming annual session, in Philadelphia, of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, I. O. O. F., reports will be presented by the grand officers, giving a summary of the work and progress of the fraternity during the past year. For some weeks the force of the grand secretary's office has been kept busy gathering together from the reports of the more than 1,100 subordinate lodges the statistical information necessary for these important official statements. The figures will show that the order has made a net gain of over 4,000 members in Pennsylvania during the last year, bringing the total membership up to about 130,000 in this state alone. This is the highest point numerically ever reached by this or any other secret brotherhood in this state, and indicates a condition of general prosperity. At this session Melville E. Chutbuck of Towanda will be installed as grand master.

The question of a demonstration in Philadelphia in September next, at the time of the proposed session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, now held in abeyance, hinges wholly upon favorable action of the Grand Lodge upon a request which will be made of that body for an appropriation of a sum of not less than $10,000. This measure will be earnestly advocated by all representatives from Philadelphia and nearby localities, but may meet with much opposition from rural members who are not likely to look with favor upon the expenditure of so large a sum for the entertainment of the national body. Even if the sum is voted, it is stated that at least $10,000 or $25,000 more will be needed from local lodges to provide an adequate program of entertainment.

PRESIDENT IN SOUTH

BLUE AND GRAY ESCORT HIM.

Imposing Procession From Train to Courthouse — Mr. Roosevelt, Introduced by Governor Beckham, Declares Sectionalism Is Dead.

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—President Roosevelt and party arrived in Louisville on schedule time. The trip over the Louisville and Nashville from Cincinnati was without incident.

The president was welcomed to Louisville by Acting Mayor Paul C. Barth in the absence of Mayor Grainger, who is ill, and by Hon. Logan C. Murray, chairman of the general reception committee. The president responded briefly and was then escorted to his carriage, where he was seated with Secretary Loeb, Governor Beckham and Mr. Murray. Preceded by a detail of mounted police and by a mounted civilian escort bearing the president's colors the president's carriage moved forward, the procession being under way in a few moments, with General John B. Castleman acting as grand marshal.

signed to accompany them. Then followed carriages with members of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army of the Republic and Confederate Veterans.

The judges of the court of appeals of Kentucky were next, and following them was a detachment of mounted Woodmen of the World. Bringing up the rear of the procession were fifty carriages, two abreast, containing the general reception committee and invited guests.

Drawn up on Broadway between Third and Fourth streets were the George B. Eastin camp, United Confederate Veterans, two posts of Grand Army men and the Spanish War Veterans' association.

As the head of the escorting column moved into Broadway the civilian escort, with the president's colors, moved rapidly forward, and the representatives of the blue and the gray swung into line in column of fours directly in front of the president's carriage and acted as his immediate guard of honor for the remainder of the parade.

Welcomed by School Children.

At Fourth and Broadway about a thousand pupils of the boys' and girls' high schools were banked along the walls and terraced lawns of the Young Men's Christian association home. Flags waved a welcome, to the evident pleasure of the president, whose carriage a moment later turned into Fourth street. The retail district was black with people. The decorations on Fourth street were lavish, the beautiful government building at Fourth and Chestnut streets being especially attractive.

When the president arrived at the speakers' stand in front of the courthouse at Sixth and Jefferson streets he was introduced in a few words by Governor Beckham.

The crowd around the speakers' stand was limited only by the lines of buildings on the various streets and at times seemed beyond the control of the police. Not one-fifth of those in sight of the president could hear his remarks.

In introducing the president Governor Beckham said:

Regardless of all political differences we are here to do honor not only to the chief magistrate of this great country, but also to Theodore Roosevelt the man. We recognize his eminent patriotism, his integrity, his fearlessness, and we all believe him to be a friend of the great common people throughout this country. We also look forward to him during the next four years as the ruler of this republic to obliterate the last faint line of sectional differences that may exist in this country. I believe that it is in the power of this great man, who, more than any president since Lincoln, holds the affection and the confidence of the people of this country, to establish beyond question the fact that there is no north, no south, no east and no west in this country.

The President's Address.

As the president stepped upon the platform and the crowd saw him a prolonged cheer went up. The president said in part:

Surely any man would indeed be gratified to be greeted in this way by such an audience and be introduced as you have introduced me, Governor Beckham.

As the governor has so well said, upon all the important questions—the questions that infinitely transcend mere partisan differences—we are fundamentally one.

For in the question of foreign and internal policies the points upon which there can be no proper division on party lines infinitely exceed in number those upon which there can be such division, and, Governor Beckham, I shall do all that in me lies to justify the hope to which you have given expression and to try to show myself the president of all the people of the United States.

And naturally I feel particularly gratified at seeing here today joined in this procession the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray.

In the dark days each of you fought for the right as it was given him to see the right, and each of you has left us the right to feel pride not only in your valor, but in your devotion to what you conscientiously believed your duty.

And now we are all one, and as a united people we have the right to feel the same pride in the valor of the man who conscientiously risked his life in the Confederate uniform that we have in the man who fought in the blue. And as I passed by your ranks, O my friends in gray, today and saluted the flag of our common country, held up by a man in the gray uniform, I felt that indeed we are one and that we have been able to show mankind the greatest war of the century can be followed by the most perfect union that any nation now knows.

The president and party then entered their carriages and after a short drive through several streets in the business district arrived at the Louisville hotel. The streets were massed with people, and the president stood up in his carriage, bowing from right to left in response to the cheering, which was hearty and continuous.

An Unexpected Presentation.

In the parlors of the hotel occurred one of the prettiest incidents of the day, the presentation of souvenirs to the executive. These consisted of a massive silver flagon containing water from a spring on the old Lincoln homestead in Larue county, an inkstand of oak that shaded the spring at which Lincoln drank when a lad and a beautiful silver vase filled with orchids. The president was visibly touched by the gifts, as it was a complete surprise. The presentation was made by Colonel R. T. Durrett, for twenty years a friend of the president. The president made a feeling response, saying that he felt more than ever that he was the president of all the people.

A hurried departure was taken, and, with the executive standing on the rear platform of the car, with cannon thundering a farewell salute less than a block away and to the music of deafening cheers, the train moved out of Seventh street station. Half an hour later it was speeding across Indiana on its way to the southwest.

COAL STRIKE AVERTED.

Pennsylvania Operators In Secret Session Grant Demands of Miners.

Philadelphia, April 2.—By the action of the soft coal operators of central Pennsylvania, who held a meeting here, the threatened strike of the bituminous miners has been averted. The operators in secret session decided to grant the demands of the men by renewing the wage scale in effect last year, the basis of which is 62 cents a ton for pick mining. A meeting of the joint scale committee of operators and miners will be held at Altoona next Tuesday, when the schedule will be adopted. The United Mine Workers of America fixed Wednesday, April 5, as the last day on which they would treat with their employers, announcing that a suspension of work would take place on that date if the operators failed to meet their demands.

German Field Guns Unsatisfactory.

Although adopted only a few years ago the entire quick-firing field artillery of Germany has been condemned, and it is to be replaced by field guns similar to those used by the Japanese. In the selection of a family medicine the people of our own country have also made mistakes. They have been deceived time and again into trying this or that remedy in the hope of obtaining a cure but without success. Not so, however, with those who selected Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, for in it they found good health and happiness. Better, by far, than anything else for the cure of indigestion, constipation, biliousness, chills, colds, la grippe, spring fever, impure blood, torpid liver and female complaints. That's why so many people stick to it so faithfully and why we urge you again to try a bottle this spring.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Girl's Russian Dress by Martha Dean

Many of the styles that have taken such a hold upon the adult fashionable person are duplicated in a modified manner for the little folks. If long, drooping shoulders are fashionable for the big folks and collars take on enormous dimensions, then it is also fashionable for little folks as well. Nowadays, when as much attention is given to the cut, style and finish of children's garments as to their elders', children are no longer regarded as an avenue of economy. The big sister's wardrobe that has been outgrown and has proved unpopular cannot be used as the base of supplies for the younger sister, and as a result their clothes are prettier and more individual than ever before. In the model shown we have a new modification of the Russian style. The dress is in one piece, with a box plait at the underarm, which gives a jaunty air to the dress as well as to supply extra width to the skirt. The collar is a new idea, and a most effective one it is. Little girls have had square collars and round collars and scalloped collars, but never one like this. The back is plain, and the trimming employed is only a matter of taste. Pretty school dresses could be made of serge or cashmere, although the model is equally suitable for wash fabrics. Braid or bands of contrasting material are used in trimming. The dress is suitable for little folks of either sex and for girls

BABY TUCKER'S WONDERFUL CURE

CURED BY CUTICURA FOR FIVE DOLLARS

Mrs. George H. Tucker, Jr., 335 Greenfield Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., is a grateful mother. "When six months old," she says, "my little girl weighed a pound and a half less than at birth. When one month old a scab formed on her face, spreading until it completely covered her from head to foot, followed by boils, having forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. Then her skin started to dry up, and it became so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep. One month's treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment made a complete cure, and now my child is as large, strong, and healthy as any child of her age. The doctor's and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, and my baby grew worse all the time. Then we spent less than five dollars for Cuticura and cured her."

CUTICURA A BLESSING

To Skin-Tortured Babies and Tired Mothers.

The suffering which Cuticura Soap and Ointment have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for birth humours, milk crust, scalled head, eczemas, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin, and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood. Guaranteed absolutely pure.

TWO TRAINS RESTORED TO PASSENGER SERVICE.

Lehigh's Summer Schedule Provides For No. 6 and No. 7.

With the new Lehigh Valley summer schedule for passenger service becomes effective, which will be in the course of about a month, the passenger trains Nos. 6 and 7 which were abandoned three years ago will again run between Buffalo and New York according to a Sayre correspondent.

The exact running time for the two new trains has not yet been decided. No. 6 will probably leave Buffalo at about 7:30 o'clock each evening, will run undoubtedly over the Ithaca branch to Sayre, arriving there about midnight. The train will be composed of a large number of sleepers. As the train will follow close to No. 20, all the passenger equipment will be taken from the latter train and it will after the new schedule be composed of nothing but mail and express, the same as No. 19 is at present. It is probable that the Black Diamond, No. 9, will be returned to the former time of arrival, one hour later than at present, and that No. 7 will arrive from the east between the arrival times of Nos. 1 and 9. From Sayre No. 7 will go over the Ithaca branch. These two passenger trains were abandoned three years ago this spring and since then there have been frequent discussions about reviving the service, but now the much discussed project has become a certainty.

SUCCESSFUL INVENTOR.

Luzerne Young Man Made Fine Rotary Engine.

Luzerne has a new inventor in the person of Walter F. Liebenguth, who has invented a practical rotary engine which has been tested during the last ten days by running his machine shops at Luzerne. A number of prominent engineers who have tested it say that it fills all the requirements which have so long been demanded in a rotary engine and it is fitted with a special invention for taking up the wear on the bearings of the piston shaft so that there is no preceptible vibrations.

Two rotary cylinders in a steam chest, driven alternately run twin shafts, one furnishing the driving and the other the governing power with one-third as much steam as used in a reciprocating engine. It develops a speed of two thousand revolutions a minute with a possibility of many more, as compared to the five hundred maximum of the reciprocating engine. It also occupies a space of less than thirty inches in any direction.

NO MORE DUMMY DISPLAY.

Cigar Dealers Prohibited From Making Show of Empty Boxes.

Internal revenue officials have been notified by the internal revenue commissioner that on and after May 1 "dummy" cigar boxes will not be allowed to be used in making attractive displays in the windows and the interiors of cigar stores. The decree is that all these "dummies" must go.

Dealers found using them with the brand of the manufacturer and his caution notice still intact are to be liable to arrest and prosecution. The penalties are fines and imprisonment or both.

Some Wise Men.

In a recent address to the Boston Boot and Shoe club, Franklin P. Shumway stated the results of a canvass of 100 leading advertisers on the question of whether they intended to increase their advertising appropriations this year. Forty-seven replied that they contemplated increasing their expenditure from 15 to 90 per cent. over last year. Forty-two said that if they should advertise more extensively they could not handle the incrased business. The remaining eleven, for various reasons, declined to be interviewed. As all these firms had had from three to thirty-five years' experience with advertising, the general tenor of their replies speak pretty well for publicity. And what is good for the big advertisers is proportionately good for the little ones.

Onions and Rabies.

The agitation concerning rabies in Towanda has brought to the mind of a lady a remedy for the disease in human beings, printed many years ago. A young man afflicted with hydrophobia was shut for safe keeping in a room upon the floor of which was spread a quantity of onions. The afflicted man in his paroxysms bit and chewed these onions and rolled among them. Soon an improvement was noted and this suggested the idea of applying raw onion poultices, which were placed under the arm pits. The account states the young man fully recovered.

Serious Operation.

Dr. C. A. Haines of Sayre and Dr. John Haines of Monroeton, operated on W. H. Campbell of Sayre Monday for necrosis of the spine. Mr. Campbell fell at Carbon Run about two years ago. Shortly afterwards he submitted to an operation for the removal of a fistula, caused by the fall. It was supposed that another fistula had formed but a recent examination showed that the present trouble is necrosis.

Boy's Head on Pilot.

John Scholl, 15 years old, of near Shelly was hurrying home from the catechetical class at California Union Church, when in a cut not far from his home he was struck by the Black Diamond Express. Unconcious of the tragedy the engineer kept his course at undiminished speed. When the train reached the terminal in Philadelphia the discovery was made that the severed head of the boy had been carried on the pilot of the engine, where it bore mute, but horrifying evidence of what had happened. Search was instituted and the remainder of the boy's body was found buried in the mud in the cut.—Mauch Chunk Times.

PERSEVERANCE CLUB OF SCRANTON ARRAIGNED.

Claimed by One Member to Be Lottery Scheme.

Edward C. Deans, secretary of the Perseverance Club, of Scranton, was arraigned before United States Commissioner E. R. W. Searle Tuesday afternoon, on the charge of using the mails to further a lottery scheme under the name of the Preservance Club. The case was continued until April 11. The district attorney, however, took the testimony for one witness, B. F. Peters, of Weissport, Pa., who said that he had been a member of the Perseverance Club for fourteen years, and that in that time he had paid in $385 and had drawn out nothing. The commissioner fixed bail in the sum of $1000 for a further hearing.

The Perseverance Club was organized in Scranton 15 years ago. The plan was that each member should pay in a certain amount a month and that when there was $1000 in the treasury, there should be a drawing, the lucky member being obliged to banquet all his brother-members. The club grew rapidly in membership and spread to other places. In the course of time, when the members got tired of seeing the "other fellow" drawing the lucky prize, they commenced to lapse in their payments. A short time ago a member brought quo warranto proceedings to have the club's charter revoked on the ground that it was conducting a lottery. A number of persons in Towanda and nearby places have been members of this club and some drew the prizes several times.

DEATH OF F. L. STANTON.

F. L. Stanton of Burlington, died on Wednesday, March 22, after an illness of one week of pneumonia, aged 60 years. The danger of his illness was not apprehended until the last few days when he grew rapidly worse. Unremitting care and the best medical aid failed to ward off death.

Mr. Stanton was one of the leading members of the M. E. church, having united 34 years ago. His life was one of usefulness. He possessed a happy disposition and an unselfish nature. His death brought great sorrow to his many friends and an unspeakable shock to his family. The bereaved ones consist of the devoted wife and daughter and Mr. Dart, a relative and a member of the household for 30 years. He also leaves four sisters and one brother in Michigan whom he visited the past winter.

The funeral was held at the M. E. church on Sunday, March 26, Rev. W. P. Miller speaking words of comfort to sorrowing friends from the text found in II Cor. v:1. Rev. A. W. Fenton of Elmira, a former pastor, assisted in the services. The interment was in Hill's cemetery.

DEATH'S SUDDEN SUMMONS

Mrs. Helen Lindley Stricken With Apoplexy on Monday Evening.

Mrs. Helen Lindley died very suddenly Monday night a few minutes before six o'clock, at the home of M. C. Mercur in the Barstow residence on Main street, from a stroke of apoplexy. She had been in excellent health of late and that day was feeling exceptionally well. About 5:30 she was found lying upon a couch in a semi-conscious state and a few moments later expired. She was about 60 years of age and is survived by one son, Charles Lindley, of Towanda.

Mrs. Lindley has been spending the past few months in the family of Mr. Mercur, acting as housekeeper in the absence of Miss Lillian Mercur in California. Dr. S. M. Woodburn was in the house at the time to see Mr. Mercur and gave immediate attention to her case. Dr. Chas. M. Woodburn was also called, but the stricken woman was beyond help.

Conductors Reinstated.

Oscar Weidman of Sayre, Peter Harmon of Wilkesbarre and James Stowell of Elmira have been reinstated as conductors on the Lehigh Valley. They were summarily dismissed a few weeks ago and it is now announced that the reason for this was the fact that a spotter had found that they had missed taking up tickets on the trains.

Railroad Promotions.

Fred E. Smith, local freight agent of the Lehigh Valley, has been promoted to local agent at Wilkesbarre to succeed R. A. P. Meade and A. J. Lester, at present traveling auditor for the Lehigh, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Smith at Sayre. These appointments become effective April 1st.

Hay's Opinion.

James Hay of South Waverly was a witness before the court at Owego the other day and caused a ripple in the court room by expressing the opinion that Waverly was dead, and that Owego could not be compared with that quiet village for being thoroughly out of the race.

New Man at Kirby's.

Lester C. Gillette, formerly with Dr. H. C. Porter & Son and for several months past with H. D. Jump at Sayre, Monday morning began work in Kirby's drug store. Mr. and Mrs. Gillette will reside on Poplar street.

Benjamin—Johnson.

William Benjamin and Miss Emma Johnson, both of Wyalusing, were married here on Monday morning by Justice of the Peace John Orcutt.

$24,000 APPROPRIATION FOR PACKER HOSPITAL.

House Committee Has Recommended That Sum—An Increase.

The appropriations committee of the House of representatives has recommended an appropriation of $24,000 for the maintenance of the Robert A. Packer hospital at Sayre for the ensuing two years. This is a virtual increase of $9,000 for maintenance over the last appropriation, which was $15,000 and $6,000 for repairs. The repairs have been made, leaving the whole amount available for running expenses.

The bill presented by representative Hoyt asked for $24,000 for maintenance, $6,000 for repairs and $15,000 for the erection of a new ward. The committee decided that appropriations for other purposes than maintenance could not be made at this session.

MARCH WEATHER.

Month Was Slightly Warmer Than Average for Ten Years.

Voluntary Weather Oberserver Hiram E. Bull completed his report for March on Saturday. The mean temperature of the month was 35.1 degrees, which was .3 warmer than the average for the past ten yars. It was 2.5 degrees warmer than last year. The highest temperature was 82 degrees on the 29th of the month and the lowest nine degrees below zero on the fifth. The greatest daily range was 47 degrees. It was below 32 degrees, 21 times during the month.

The precipitation during the month including the snow melted was 3.2 inches which was .15 more than the average. Six inches of snow fell and this was two inches more than the average. The maximum temperatures of 78 and 82 degrees were the greatest ever recorded here in March and the nearest was 75 degrees in 1905.

False Work Burned.

The false work under the huge girders which are being installed as part of the Lackawanna railroad bridge crossing the Susquehanna river at Litchfield, became ignited from cinders at an early hour Thursday morning and the fire destroyed a large portion of the work, which allowed the supported girder to settle about four feet. This, of course, rendered the tracks crossing the bridge useless and the Lackawanna trains were run over the Erie for the remainder of the day.

Took Dangerous Trip.

Hon. William E. Champaign, George R. Mathers, Esq., and John B. Truman of Wellsboro started out in a boat down Pine Creek at Ansonia on a duck hunting expedition. Their boat shipped water and soon overturned. All their paraphernalia including three valuable guns was lost and the three men had to swim for shore. When they finally reached a place of safety they were all exhausted. Mathers was in such bad shape that he had to be carried.

Remarkable Surgical Operation.

Dr. Ott, of the Sayre Hospital, performed one of the greatest surgical operations of the age upon Ex-County Treasurer Leander Lott. He removed a prostrate gland from the neck of the bladder. Mr. Lott stood the operation very good for one of his age, and has passed the critical stage, and is assured by the doctor that he will be permanently cured and will be home in two or three weeks if all goes well.—Montrose Republican.

Marble on Eggs.

Thousands of boys and girls in the state will be deprived of their customary candy Easter eggs if the crusade started at Pottsville by State Pure Food Inspector R. M. Simmers is successful. Simmers secured samples of coloring matter used by manufacturers and chocolate Easter eggs. These and the chocolate cakes he has found contain a large quantity of Standard Oil paraffine and powdered marble, unfit to be put into the stomach.

This Is the Limit.

The "card of thanks" foolishness touches the limit in the following, from one of our exchanges: "We wish to thank the friends who were so kind to us recently, upon the birth of our baby. The doctor, particularly, was kind, and we feel under lasting obligations to the two neighbor women who stayed up with us all night."

Mr. Heylmun Enlisted.

Fred W. Heylmun of this place, who left Towanda about five weeks ago, has enlisted for a term of four years in the United States navy and has been assigned to the new U. S. S. Pennsylvania, commissioned on March 10.

Letter to Frank Kisner.

Towanda, Pa.

Dear Sir: You know what paint is for, how it does it, how it fails, what paint does it, and what paint don't. It's your business to know; of course you know Devoe.

There are some details, which, of course, you can't be expected to know. For instance the next-best paints are only three-quarters as good. That's strange; very strange. There are a dozen of them perhaps; you don't know them so accurately as that; you don't know them all by name. No matter; one is enough; the only one you have real occasion to know is Devoe.

The queer of it is that the others leave the whole business to us so. We make paint as good as we can; others make it as good as they have to. Queer but we don't complain.

Very truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.

P. S.—Dr. H. C. Porter & Son sell our paint.
